City to Receive CD Hospital Unit

Civil Defense Emergency Equipment Will Be Stored at High School

Harrisburg soon will receive a Federal Civil Defense Emergency hospital unit, it was announced today by Ray W. Altmire, director of Civil Defense for Harrisburg and Saline county.

The hospital consists of equipment and supplies for a 200-bed hospital that probably would be set up at the high school here in case of emergency.

Word that the emergency hospital was being sent here was received by Mr. Altmire from James W. Bradshaw, director of the Storage Operations division of the Federal Civil Defense Administration national headquarters at Battle Creek, Mich.

Carmi Utility Suit Dismissed

CARMI, Ill. — Mayor A. J. (Gus) Brandt and the Carmi City Council agreed Thursday that they will never again use water and light receipts to pay general expenses.

After the agreement, put on record in Circuit Judge Caswell Crebs' Circuit Court, the judge dismissed a suit filed Oct. 31 by the Civic Improvement Organization against the mayor and council. He specified that the city officials must pay court costs.

The city administration had been under fire for using revenues from the city's utilities for general expenses.

Saline County Judge Trafton Dennis, attorney for the Civic Improvement Organization, and the lawyers for the defense, Judge Ulys Pyle, Stuart Pearce, Ivan Elliott Jr. and City Attorney William Goebel came to an agreement in open court, before dismissal of the suit by the judge.

Dennis asked that a supplementary motion be put on court records to keep the mayor and council from repealing a resolution passed after the suit was filed. The judge granted the motion.

The resolution stated that the revenue of the water and light system of Carmi shall not be used for general corporate purposes, but only for the financial obligations, maintenance, operation and extension of the water and light system.

Judge Crebs said Thursday afternoon that to grant an injunction now would be useless, since the Civic Improvement organization had been granted everything it asked in the suit.

Illinois Growers Produce 2.5 Million Bushels of Apples

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois commercial apple growers produced 2,550,000 bushels of apples during 1956, an increase of 78 per cent over 1955, the Illinois Co-operative Crop Reporting Service said today.

The service said the total crop would have been greater, but late frost damage, scattered hail and too little moisture held the harvest down.

Illinois produced 19 per cent of the United States' total of winter varieties, with the golden delicious variety providing 790,000 bushels, the service said.

Illinois was second in production of Jonathan apples with 714,000 bushels, behind Michigan which led with 2,300,000 bushels.

Pick Up Three From Raft After B47s Collide

Three of Crew Still Missing; Spot Second Raft

HAVANA — Two B47 Stratojet bombers collided in flight south of Cuba Thursday night and three of the six missing crewmen were picked up on a raft today.

The Homestead, Fla., Air Force Base reported a second raft was also spotted by search craft but it was not determined immediately if any survivors were aboard it.

Six men were aboard the two planes, three in each, and all had been listed as missing and presumed dead.

Maj. R. W. Bryant, public information officer at the air base south of Miami, said the three survivors "seemed to be in good condition" according to reports he received from the Coast Guard. He said they were being taken to a hospital for routine checkups, but he did not know where.

The survivors were identified as Maj. James McGree McFarland Jr., 37, Watsontown, Pa.; Maj. Winfred E. Lynn, 33, Paducah, Ky., and 1st Lt. James Edward Rose Jr., 28, Dallas, Tex.

There was no word on the fate of the other three—Maj. William Earl Norris, 41, Lansing, Mich.; Capt. James H. Parker, 35, Rock Hill, S. C., and 1st Lt. Earl S. Chrisavon Jr., 26, Sumter, S. C.

Col. Leonard Dwyer, chief of the U. S. Air Force mission to Cuba, said few details of the accident were known other than the planes collided shortly after dark during tactical exercises.

The big six-engine planes, operating from Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami, were believed to have crashed off Cuba's Isle of Pines about 150 miles south of Key West, Fla.

Sister planes of the downed craft reported upon their return to Homestead that they saw a "huge bolt of fire" and then saw flames shoot out in "many directions" toward the sea.

Former Local Boy Enjoys Tour with Carrier Boy Group

David Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Butler of Tujunga, Calif., formerly of Harrisburg, returned Jan. 22 from a seven-day "American Heritage Tour" that had its grand climax at the inauguration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Jan. 21 in Washington, D. C.

The group of twenty-six Los Angeles Examiner carrier boys and their supervisors left from Los Angeles International Airport, Jan. 14 aboard a TWA Super G Constellation.

The tour started in New York City and took the group to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, Philadelphia, U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis and Washington, D. C. Among the historic places the carriers visited were the Statue of Liberty, United Nations building in New York City, Constitution Hall and the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, the Capitol building, Smithsonian Institute, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and Mount Vernon in the Washington, D. C. area.

David is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Butler of 511 West Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borders, 6 East Park street of this city.

Recover Five Bodies, Four Still Missing in Fire

29 Hurt in Panicky Rush to Descend Factory Fire Escape

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Another body was found in the ruins of a garment factory fire today, raising the toll to five dead. Four others were missing and 29 were in hospitals with burns and injuries.

The body was uncovered as wrecking crews began tearing down the weakened walls of the building. State and local investigators began an inquiry to determine what caused the flash fire late Thursday.

The known dead and injured were engulfed by fire during a panicky rush to descend a fire escape of the 50-year-old structure, situated about ten blocks from downtown New Haven. Fire Marshal Eugene J. Mulligan said "panic, as much as anything else," appeared to be responsible for the deaths and injuries.

Blaze Quickly Controlled

Two of the bodies were found on a third-floor landing of the fire escape, after the fire, which swept the building in 20 minutes, was brought under control. The other two victims, their bodies wreathed by flames, fought their way from the building but died en route to a hospital.

About 300 persons were inside the building when the fire broke out late Thursday afternoon on the first floor of the building which housed clothing, plastics and machinery firms.

The bodies recovered were identified as those of Mrs. Angela Di Rienzo, 18, a bride of three months; Miss Alma Bradley, 46; Miss Jean Pittman, 42, all of New Haven; and Mrs. Jessie Mongillo, 42, of suburban Hamden.

Listed as missing were Joseph Nastro of Hamden; Thelma Lynn of West Haven; Morris Baehr of Woodbridge; Herbert Horowitz of Ansonia; and Josephine Marella and Jo Ann Ingr of New Haven.

Flames Spread Quickly
Less than five minutes after the fire's discovery, flames had turned the dilapidated structure into an inferno of stampeding, shrieking women. Those on the first two floors quickly escaped, but employees of garment firms on the upper floors fled down two fire escapes, but flames blocked their paths. Many leaped or fell to the ground when one of the escapes jammed at a second floor landing. Others were saved by firemen.

Jet Stream Aids B47 Coast-Coast Record Flight

BEDFORD, Mass. — A new coast to coast flight record—3 hours and 46 minutes—was set today by an Air Force jet bomber with the aid of the "jet stream."

The B47 flashed over the marker at Hanscom Air Base here at 8:04 a. m. CST after covering 2,650 miles from March Air Base, Calif.

The Air Force said that the time was 1 minute better than the record set by a fighter plane in 1955, and 30 minutes faster than the bomber record of 4 hours and 16 minutes.

It took the plane 15 minutes to land from an altitude of 35,000 feet over the airport. The plane ejected two parachutes to brake the landing.

Piloted by Maj. Mont Smith of Arlington, Mass., the B47 had left March Air Force Base at 4:17 a. m.

The plane had reported its speed as 850 m.p.h. over Vandalia, Ill. It was flying at 35,000 feet over Gardner, Mass., some 40 miles west of its destination.

Crash crews were lined up along the 7,500-foot runway here as the big ship came down to a perfect landing at 8:19 a. m.

The jet's crew had been studying for three years the jet stream, a river of air that flows across the country from west to east at 25,000 feet above the earth and higher. The Air Force Cambridge Research Center, which has headquarters here, mapped the jet stream to prepare for today's flight.

Air Force officials said the jet stream at times can give planes a 250-mile-an-hour boost.

Harrisburg Production Credit Ass'n Moving Into New Building

The Harrisburg Production Credit association tomorrow will be closed for business as it moves from present quarters in the Cummins building to its new home at Church and Jackson streets, and will be open for business in its new office building Monday.

The new building, of modern brick design, has a 50-foot front and is 36 feet long. Inside are three private offices, lobby and workroom. The general construction work was done by Midland Construction Co., plumbing by the LeTemp Plumbing Co., the electrical work by Ford Electric Co., and the heating and air-conditioning by City Coal Yard.

The Harrisburg PCA, which serves Saline, Johnson, Union, Williamson, Pope, Hardin, White, Gallatin, Alexander, Pulaski, Massac, Hamilton, Franklin and Jackson counties, is one of 485 Production Credit associations in the United States providing credit to farmers.

Members Elect Directors
The Harrisburg association, chartered in 1933, is completely farm-owned.

Production Credit associations were founded upon the idea that the farmers who use the association take an active part in managing the system which makes the loans. Therefore, it was pointed out by C. J. Beggs, secretary-treasurer, when a farmer borrows from a Production Credit association, he becomes a member and stockholder in his own credit system in an amount equal to $5 for each $100 of his loan.

Three More Arrested In Shooting Of Two Men at Ku Klux Klan Meeting

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Police charged three more persons, including a woman, Thursday night in connection with the shooting of two men at a Ku Klux Klan meeting here Tuesday night.

Asa (Ace) Carter, outspoken segregationist and White Citizens Council leader, was arrested Wednesday and is free under $20,000 bond on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Detective Sgt. E. M. House identified the trio as Louis Curry, 27; Ira Evans, 52, and Mrs. Mary Nell Tatum, 32. Curry and Evans were charged with assault with intent to murder while Mrs. Tatum was booked as an accessory.

The shooting Tuesday night came at the height of a quarrel which police said erupted between Carter and J. P. Tillery, one of the associations' business affairs and policies by electing from its membership a board of five directors," Mr. Beggs stated. "Loan applications are acted upon by the association loan committee which is composed of the secretary-treasurer and two members of the board of directors."

Eisenhowers Entertain with Brilliant Reception

WASHINGTON — President and Mrs. Eisenhower Thursday night opened the first White House social season in two years with a brilliant reception for the diplomatic corps.

Star guests of the evening included the stunning Begum Aga Khan, wearing a 52 carat diamond ring; Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin, unadorned in a sea of beribboned and bejeweled colleagues, and petite singer Lily Pons.

Promptly at 9:15 p. m. President Eisenhower in white tie and tails and the First Lady, wearing her citron yellow inaugural ball gown, descended the marble staircase to the red-carpeted first-floor hallway. With a color guard leading the way, they proceeded to the glittering East Ballroom where their 1,200 guests were assembled behind velvet ropes.

The scarlet-coated Marine Band struck up "Hail to the Chief" as the Eisenhowers paused. Then the President and First Lady walked through to the Blue Room, formed a receiving line and the party was on.

Tillery's condition was still listed as fair today. Bridges remained in serious condition. Carter, just before his release from jail Thursday, said the charges against him are "utterly baseless and fantastic." He said they were lodged at a time when it was a "well known" fact he intended to run for police commissioner in the May city elections.

Those arrested were Jack Sobel, 53, his wife, Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam, 64. Both men were born in the same town in Lithuania; Mrs. Sobel is a native of Russia. The Sobels are naturalized American citizens. Albam has applied for but has not been granted citizenship.

The complaint charged the three conspired "for the purpose of obtaining information respecting the national defense of the United States of America" including documents, writings, photographs, photographic negatives and notes for delivery to Russian agents.

Soble was charged specifically with relaying in New York last Aug. 15 two reports, one of 26 pages and another of 5 pages, "for delivery to agents of Russia."

Had Been Under Investigation For 13 Years

Hint Russian Government Officials Will Be Implicated

NEW YORK — Two men and a woman were arrested here today on charges of delivering U. S. defense secrets to Russian agents.

The FBI said the arrests resulted from a 13-year investigation into "Soviet intelligence activities" and hinted that Soviet government officials would be implicated in the case.

Those arrested were Jack Sobel, 53, his wife, Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam, 64. Both men were born in the same town in Lithuania; Mrs. Sobel is a native of Russia. The Sobels are naturalized American citizens. Albam has applied for but has not been granted citizenship.

The complaint charged the three conspired "for the purpose of obtaining information respecting the national defense of the United States of America" including documents, writings, photographs, photographic negatives and notes for delivery to Russian agents.

Soble was charged specifically with relaying in New York last Aug. 15 two reports, one of 26 pages and another of 5 pages, "for delivery to agents of Russia."

The case appeared to be the biggest espionage disclosure in this country since the case of atomic spies Edith and Julius Rosenberg, who were executed at Sing Sing Prison in 1953 for their part in a wartime espionage ring.

No reference to other conspirators was made in the formal complaint. Maj. Yuri P. Krylov, an assistant military attaché of the Soviet embassy at Washington, was ordered expelled from the United States last week, however, on charges that he had improperly purchased "quantities of electronic equipment" and attempted to buy U. S. military secrets.

The State Department said at the time that "American intermediaries" apparently had been involved in Krylov's purchases. Officials said they believed he had not succeeded in buying "classified military material."

Another Russian embassy aide was expelled from the country last June for alleged espionage activities. Assistant Military Attaché Col. Ivan Buhichov was understood to have been caught picking up material at a second letter drop.

The FBI said today that the Sobels and Albam had been uncovered in an investigation into the spy activities of Vassili Zubilin, a third secretary of the Russian embassy in Washington during World War II, who returned to his own country in 1944. Zubilin's successors in Washington were said to have dealt with the spy ring elaborated by former Communist Elizabeth Bentley and with the atom spy ring.

The Sobels and Albam, however, were charged with a conspiracy dating from 1947.

The three were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Earle N. Bishop and held in $100,000 bail each for a hearing on Feb. 1.

They face a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine if convicted on the conspiracy to commit espionage charge. All three were charged also with conspiring to evade registration as Soviet agents, which carries a possible penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fines.

Encouraging Milestone

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
A significant milestone in U. S. transportation history is quietly approaching. Within a few months the last of the 12 major domestic airlines will be off the government subsidy list.

Commercial aviation in this country got its start some 30 years ago. During most of that sizable period the domestic carriers have had a big helping hand from Washington.

Looking over today's fleets of multi-engine aircraft, one finds it hard to think back to the pioneering age when the first big airline networks were being formed from a confusion of short-haul lines.

The federal government played a proper role in encouraging and guiding the growth of flying from its hesitant beginnings to the huge operations we now know. America's domestic service is the envy of the world.

There is a notion held in some quarters that, once extended, federal aid is never withdrawn. But the record of the airlines disproves it. All but one of the big 12 already stand on their own feet, and only unexpected developments can prevent it from being an even dozen by spring.

Believers in the private enterprise system may take heart from this system.

Subsidies made sense in the early stages of growth, when, in addition to making countless uneconomical airmail stops, the struggling carriers had to scratch for customers to help defray heavy costs of equipment. But all sides were agreed the grants ought to stop when finances of the airlines were sufficiently strong.

Many of us may have forgotten that the transcontinental railroads got similar help from the government in their pioneer days, particularly in the form of land grants to provide right of way. So, despite our attachment to free enterprise, we do have a tradition of federal and other aid to beginners in such vital fields as transportation.

Nevertheless, it is rewarding to see a maturing industry cast off its ties of dependence on government.

As the domestic airlines are about to complete the process, we must hope, too, that our fine overseas carriers and our web of feeder lines may before too long manage to follow suit.

Highways for Vehicles

Nobody questions the superior safety value of our most modern highways, especially the New York-Chicago turnpike network.

But perhaps there is insufficient attention to certain features of these roadways.

Much of the public comment is directed at their remarkable width, the lack of intersections, and the broad division between opposing streams of traffic.

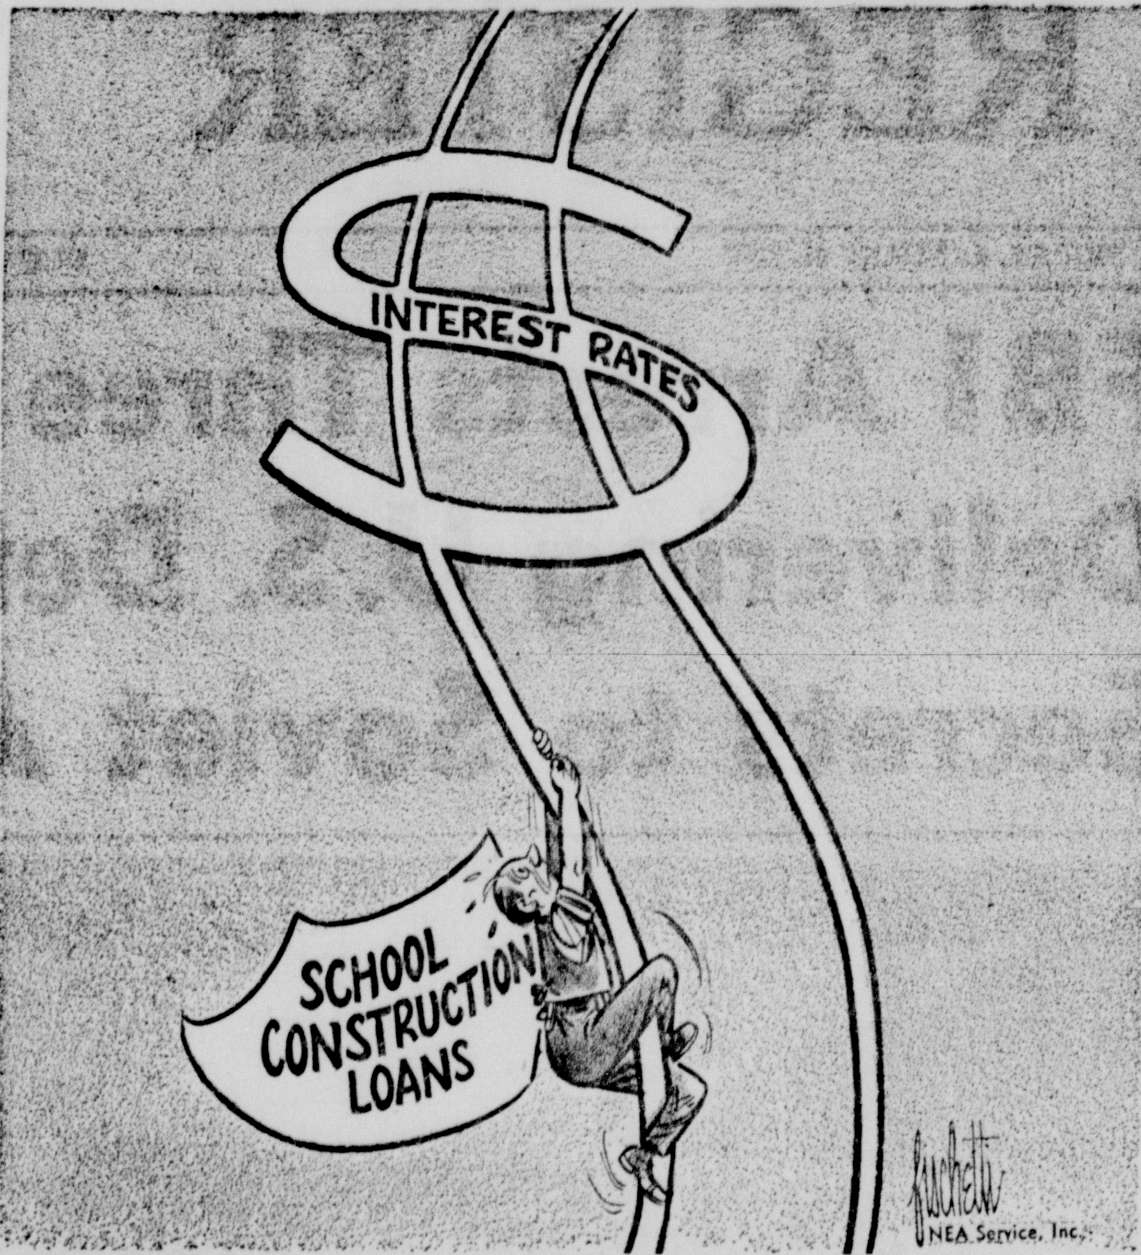

All these things do indeed contribute heavily to safety. But the words "limited access" have a lot to do with safety performance on the super-roads.

Engineers long ago found that one of the principal sources of trouble was the "friction" caused on highways by traffic entering and leaving at side roads, peeling off and coming on at innumerable gas stations and hot dog stands, parking on narrow shoulders.

The new roads bar most of these roadside enterprises except at controlled intervals. Access to the highways is kept to a remarkable minimum, and is governed by long approaches with good "sight distance." And shoulders are built wide and strong on both sides of a pavement, so parked cars can get well off the driving lanes in those emergencies when they must halt outside authorized areas.

The National Safety Council believes these features should be maintained in our vast new interstate highway network. A look at the record of the "limited access" roads suggests the council's position is eminently sound.

Jack and the Beanstalk

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Congress Throws Stones At Dave Beck's Glass House; Sen. McClellan Should Tackle Lobbies As Vigorously; Threat Of War Complicated Holy Land Filming.

WASHINGTON. — "We put the Teamsters right here so we could keep an eye on Congress," quoth roly-poly, baldheaded Dave Beck, czar of the Teamsters union, explaining why he had located his national headquarters to that senator looking out a rear Capitol window could not escape the modernistic glass-and-aluminum palace dedicated to the biggest union in America.

Beck's remark was made two years ago. He would not make it today. For today Congress has reversed things and is keeping an eye on the Teamsters.

One by one: long file of Teamster chiefs sat before the Senate Investigating committee, blithely pleaded the Fifth Amendment. With monotonous regularity they refused to answer questions.

Dave Beck didn't plead the Fifth Amendment. From his home in Seattle he pleaded sickness.

Sitting in his swank office at the foot of the Capitol a few weeks before, he could push a button and have the curtain automatically drawn over his huge glass window. Or he could push another button and diffuse the sun's rays in the window glass through which he viewed Congress.

Another button turned on his special hi-fi set. The push of another button turned on his special installed TV set.

A battery of phones was spread out on the huge, bare desk. He could bark into a box and summon union chiefs from any place in his glass palace. Upstairs was a cafeteria where Teamster chiefs could eat free. Nearby was a gold-leaf decorated projection room seating 500, where the Teamster boss could show his private movies. The leather upholstery in his building made the Union League Club look parsimonious.

"We're going to keep an eye on Congress," the Teamsters' boss had said. But now Congress is keeping an eye on him.

NO TEARS FOR BECK

Not many people in the labor movement feel sorry for Dave Beck or the Teamsters. Dave has thumbed his nose at too many other labor leaders, crossed swords too frequently with George Meany, raided too many other unions, even loaned money to firms engaged in locking out other unions.

Furthermore, there's a lot in the record of both Beck and his No. 2 Teamster boss, Jim Hoffa, that ought to be investigated for the good of union honesty.

However, let's take a look at the man who's doing the investigating — Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas.

Senator McClellan was entrusted with the probe of the gas-oil lobby: after a lobbyist for Howard Keck and Superior Oil attempted to bribe Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota to the tune of $2,500.

Senator McClellan was given the investigating job after Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri and Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee had tried to do a forthright job but were euchred out of the committee chairmanship by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, bosom pal of the gas lobby. Johnson knew McClellan would be a safe investigator.

He was. At the close of his alleged investigation he blithely announced:

"We have done everything possible to secure the cooperation of the press, the public, and the executive branch of the government.

The facts the committee obtained in response to these efforts were negligible."

Senator McClellan issued this statement despite the fact that I personally went to his office and urged his staff to probe the $5,000 check paid by the same Howard Keck of Superior Oil to the Eisenhower dinner committee at the very same time the gas bill was under debate. I had a photostat of the check.

Senator Case rebuffed the $2,500 from Superior Oil. The Eisenhower committee accepted twice that amount from the same Superior Oil. Yet Senator McClellan refused to investigate. On top of that he had the nerve to announce that the press did not cooperate.

Senator McClellan is quite right about investigating the Teamsters. But he has been woefully negligent in not fully investigating the gas lobby, the big utilities, and Vice President Nixon's friend, Murray Chotiner. McClellan's law firm in Arkansas represents both oil companies and utilities. If he doesn't want to investigate their lobbying he should step aside and let someone else conduct the hearings.

"SHOOTING" IN ISRAEL

The one-hour TV program on this writer's "Report on The Holy Land" being aired by NBC this Sunday illustrates the miracle of modern reporting and some of its problems. Prime Minister Ben-Gurion was interviewed before the Sinai attack, and then by transatlantic telephone afterward.

During the first interview, Ben-Gurion was at his farm co-op, Ste Boker, in the Negev Desert, where he wore a loose khaki shirt and shorts. In the second interview, after the Sinai attack, he was in Jerusalem, where he wore a formal business suit. The prime minister was extremely busy, but nevertheless bowed to my meticulous producer, Baruch Dinar, and changed to khaki shirt and shorts.

By the time of the second interview, the camera crew which had filmed the first interview had been drafted into the Israeli army. They were spread out all over the Sinai peninsula.

However, after I called Gen. Moshe Perlman, Ben-Gurion's information officer, by transatlantic phone, he agreed to let the camera crew drive back from Egypt to Jerusalem to retake the prime minister. The prime minister, however, kept them waiting—one day, two days, three days. After waiting for the prime minister each night, they had to drive to Egypt, get back into their army uniforms and report for duty. Next evening they made the long trip again, until Ben-Gurion was finally reshot.

Occasionally we see people whose expression appears to be frozen. The smile or the scowl or the blank look never changes. Inner feelings are masked as much as those of the clown behind his painted face.

Many a pained laugh hides a broken heart. Many a blank expression is the front behind which exists deep interest.

Sometimes we see only the exterior of people. We do not realize their suffering, their discouragements or their sorrows. And, because people do not display their feelings or their emotions, we offer no sympathy and no assistance.

Instead of assuming that the other fellow has no problems it might be well to assume that he needs friendship and love and courage, even as do the rest of us.

Band Leader Tells of Investments With Oil Promoter Charged with Fraud

DANVILLE, Ill. (UP) — Band leader Orrin Tucker, first witness in the trial of oil promoter Homer W. Snowden for an alleged multimillion dollar oil promotion scheme returned to the witness stand today for cross examination.

U. S. Atty. Clifford Raemer completed direct questioning of Tucker Thursday. Raemer refused to say who the government would call next from the more than 40 prosecution witnesses expected to testify.

Snowden, 51, Dallas, Tex., went on trial here Wednesday before Federal Judge Casper Platt, charged with fraud, conspiracy and sale of unregistered securities in the alleged promotion scheme.

Tucker testified he and about 50 friends invested about $180,000 in oil leases promoted by Snowden.

The band leader said Snowden had "guaranteed" possible oil investments, and said if assignments placed on one oil lease did not result in a producing well, the interest would be placed on another lease, and another well would be drilled without cost to the investor.

Tucker said Snowden asked him to handle money, receive investments and make disbursements as directed. Tucker said he never had anything to do with the oil transactions, and even hired a bank employee so the financial operation would be legitimate.

Tucker said Snowden told him that he (Snowden) had an income of $300,000 a month and owned about 800 oil wells.

When Snowden first approached him about possible investment in oil leases, Tucker said, Snowden reported there was "a lot of activity in the area around Brush, Colorado" and asked him if he were "interested."

The government has charged Snowden falsely guaranteed funds invested in the promotion scheme, and made a series of misrepresentations in order to persuade investors to buy the unregistered oil securities.

Raemer has estimated Snowden's oil promotion scheme involved more than 2½ million dollars.

File Contempt Action Against Union Official

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today a recommended contempt of Congress citation against a powerful West Coast Teamsters' union leader is "only the beginning."

McClellan's racket-hunting Senate investigation subcommittee called Thursday for contempt action against Frank W. Brewster of Seattle. This will be followed, McClellan said today, by similar action against other Teamster officials who, like Brewster, refused to answer questions put to them by the subcommittee on the ground that the group lacked authority to ask them.

If the Senate approves the citation recommendations, they will go to the Justice Department for prosecution.

The subcommittee charged that Brewster displayed contempt of Congress when he refused to answer questions last Saturday and also refused to obey a subpoena to produce financial records of the Western Conference of Teamsters and the union's Joint Council 28, Seattle.

He is head of both groups, which are subordinate units of the nation's biggest union, the 1.4-million member International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Senate leaders were still trying today to work out a compromise on setting up a special committee to continue the McClellan subcommittee's investigation of labor racketeering.

Dag Rejects Israel Refusal To Quit Gaza

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U.P.)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld today rejected Israel's refusal to return the disputed Gaza and Aqaba strips to Egypt.

He recommended that troops of the United Nations Emergency Force be sent into the Gulf of Aqaba area and that Israel, which has insisted on prior guarantees against Egyptian military activities there, withdraw its troops immediately without conditions.

He also rejected Israel's plan to maintain civil administration in the Gaza strip, which juts 26 miles north of the general armistice line of 1949. Israel had suggested that Gaza might be taken over by an international regime with Israeli maintenance of civil services.

In a written report to the General Assembly, Hammarskjöld stood firm on the U. N.'s demand for withdrawal of Israel's forces from both areas.

But he called for measures to prevent a return to conditions which led to Israel's attack on Egypt last October and to make the 1949 Palestine armistice agreement in effect an operating non-aggression pact.

Killed in Auto Accident Near Effingham

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (U.P.)—Fred Onesarge, 18, Funkhouser, was killed near here early today when a car went out of control on the icy country road and rammed a bridge abutment.

Sheriff Thomas McDevitt said Onesarge and Richard Carter, 17, Effingham, driver of the car, were thrown out of the auto. Carter walked a half mile to telephone authorities.

Senate Group to Ask Probe of Gas, Oil Price Increases

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) said he would co-sponsor a resolution today with a bipartisan group of 18 other senators to set up a special senate committee to investigate recent increases in gas and fuel oil.

Scott's announcement came after the nation's independent oil producers Thursday predicted a new increase in prices of gasoline and home heating oil.

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee Thursday also voted to make its own investigation into the oil and gas industry price increases.

Police Track Down Tips in Sisters' Slaying

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Authorities today questioned a Skid Row Romeo and painstakingly tracked down scores of other tips on an all-out effort to find the killer of two teen-aged sisters.

Sheriff's police said a lie detector test given Edward Lee (Benny) (The Dishwasher) Bedwell, 21, proved "inconclusive." He was held for further questioning and investigation.

The nude and crumpled bodies of Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, were found Tuesday in a ditch on the city's southwest suburbs.

Benny, who sports a duck-tail haircut and Elvis Presley sideburns, has denied any connection with the slaying.

At least three persons reported seeing the girls with Benny two days after they disappeared Dec. 28 after attending a Presley movie. The part-time dishwasher admitted taking two teen-aged girls on a tour of Skid Row bars then, but said he was certain they were not the Grimes sisters.

Police checked out a report that the girls may have been alive as late as Jan. 14, eight days before their murder was discovered.

Mrs. Wallace Tollstam said a "frightened and depressed" Patricia telephoned her daughter early that morning. She said the caller, whose voice she recognized as that of Patricia, asked:

"Is that you Sandra? Is Sandra there?"

Mrs. Tollstam said her daughter Sandra, 13, and Patricia were close friends. She said she awakened her daughter because the voice sounded so frightened and depressed, but the caller hung up before Sandra reached the phone.

Announce Plans for Gradual Integration Of Sturgis High

By United Press

A Kentucky school board has announced plans for gradual integration starting next fall at the Sturgis High School which became the center of racial demonstrations last fall.

The Union County School Board Thursday filed with the U. S. District Court at Owensboro, Ky., a plan for integrating the 9th grades of all schools in the county, including Sturgis High School, next September, and the 9th through 12th grades by September, 1959.

The Board of Education of near-by Webster County, scene of companion demonstrations against Negroes attempting to enroll at Clay, recently filed a plan for integrating both elementary and high schools by next September.

Federal Judge Henry L. Brooks ordered both boards to file plans as a result of suits brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People after Gov. A. B. Chandler sent in National Guardsmen to control the demonstrations.

Carmi May Buy CIPS Power

CARMI, Ill. — The Carmi Power Commission reported to a special city council meeting Thursday night that the "only possible reasonable solution" to the city's chronic summer electric power shortages is to purchase power from the Central Illinois Public Service Co.

The special meeting was called by Mayor A. J. (Gus) Brandt to hear a report of the recently appointed power commission on ways to prevent the recurrence of power shortages which have plagued the city for the past few summers.

The commission obtained a proposed contract from CIPS, in which the company agrees to furnish the city of Carmi 1,000 kilowatts of power.

The city will construct a sub-station which will connect into a 69,000-volt line north of town. The line will remain connected throughout the life of the one-year contract.

Under the contract, CIPS will be paid 14¢ per kilowatt hour, with the city to distribute and collect for the power from subscribers.

Cost of Living Again Rises

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The cost of living rose to a record level again last month to make consumer prices at the end of 1956 almost 3 per cent higher than December, 1955, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index rose 2 of 1 per cent between November and December to a new high of 118 per cent of average 1947-49 prices.

The index set new records in six of the last seven months of 1956.

The new increase also means cost of living pay boosts ranging from 1 to 3 cents an hour for around 500,000 workers in trucking and other transport industries, and the electrical and aircraft factories. Wage contracts in those industries contain escalator clauses tied to the price index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also reported that the average factory workers' take-home pay and the purchasing power of his paycheck rose to record levels in December, despite the rise in the cost of living.

At the year's end, the average factory take-home pay was almost 2 per cent higher than in November and about 5 per cent higher over the year.

The purchasing power of the average factory pay check stood at 125.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Two Guardsmen Collect $1,700 For Polio Drive

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (U.P.) — The March of Dimes fund was $1,700 richer today because two teen-age National Guardsmen went on a foot-wearying 93-mile hike.

Jerry Plasters, 19, and Larry Yates, 18, wound up their four-day march through three counties here Thursday. They volunteered for the trek when they learned a Marine who planned to make the march couldn't make it this year.

The youths started out at Carbondale last Monday and except for rain the next day, they had good weather along the road. They were tired but in good spirits when they tramped into the city.

Plasters later took up a vigil on the western edge of town until midnight because he was disappointed they hadn't collected more. Last year, a Marine sergeant collected $2,500 on a similar march.

Yates, a high school student on four-day leave of absence, had to return to his books.

Plan New Series Of Atomic Tests

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Atomic Energy Commission is planning to hold a new series of atomic tests in Nevada late this spring apparently involving nuclear anti-aircraft weapons.

The AEC said Thursday in announcing the series that it would involve "low yield" tests.

It said a "major objective" of the tests would deal with "weapons for defense against attack."

Production Credit Moving Into New Building

their own membership, understands their problems because they are themselves farmers.

"Loans are made only to farmers for any agricultural purpose with maturities up to three years. The amount a farmer may borrow depends primarily upon how much he needs to carry on his business properly and upon his ability to repay the loan out of farm income."

Mr. Beggs said the rate of interest charged is reasonable and is payable when the loans are due. Interest is charged on the actual amount borrowed and for the time the money is used, he pointed out.

"Production Credit associations do not lend government money," he explained. "They obtain loan funds from the Intermediate Credit Bank on the security of its members' notes and its own capital and reserves. This bank in turn sells debentures, which are short term bonds, to investors in the financial centers."

The local association makes a number of unsecured loans to farmers, depending on the financial position of the member. Others give a first mortgage on the livestock and crops as security. Loans are repaid as livestock or crops are sold.

Officers of Association

Dairymen, Mr. Beggs stated, usually arrange to pay their loans in installments out of their regular checks for milk. Loans for the purchase of machinery, soil improvement or other capital purposes are payable over one to three year periods planned to fit the individual's particular operation.

Present officers and personnel of the Harrisburg PCA are Max Wilson of Ridgway, president and director; W. H. Beauman of Tunnel Hill, vice president and director; E. A. Fosse of Marion, director; F. E. Bramlet of Eldorado, director; W. P. Rendleman of Wolf Lake, director; C. J. Beggs of Harrisburg, secretary-treasurer; Alonida Abney of Harrisburg, assistant secretary-treasurer; Ray Grater of Equality, field assistant secretary-treasurer; and John Sutton of Eldorado, clerk.

The English chemist, Frederick Soddy, originated the term "isotope."

Poland Saved From Hungary's Fate by China

LONDON (U.P.)—Communist China saved Poland from armed Soviet intervention during the October "revolution," diplomatic sources said today.

The informants said the Red Chinese leaders intervened with Moscow during the crucial phase of Poland's bid for a more liberal socialist regime.

The sources said Communist China firmly cautioned the divided Kremlin last autumn against suppressing the liberal movement of Wladyslaw Gomulka with Soviet armor.

Peiping's restraining influence saved Poland from the fate which later befell Hungary, the sources said.

It was recalled Moscow displayed considerable indecision at the developments in Poland during Gomulka's return to power.

An enraged Nikita S. Khrushchev accompanied by Vyacheslav M. Molotov, flew to Warsaw seemingly prepared for a showdown with the rebellious Gomulka. Molotov reportedly is the leader of the tough Stalinist faction in the Kremlin hierarchy.

But in less than 48 hours, the Kremlin had changed its attitude and was ready to talk business with the Polish "rebels." Khrushchev and Molotov quietly flew back to Moscow.

This sudden switch now appears to have been primarily prompted by the intervention of Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai acting on orders from Communist leader Mao Tse-tung, according to the sources.

Actor Fined for Firing at Tractor

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Actor Michael O'Shea has been fined $250 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence for firing a rifle at a neighbor's tractor when his Irish temper exploded last Nov. 7.

The actor also was placed on three years probation Thursday by Municipal Judge Parks Stillwell and warned that he might go to jail if he used firearms again to settle disputes with his neighbors.

O'Shea, husband of actress Virginia Mayo, admitted he fired a .22 caliber rifle at the tractor's rear tires while it was being operated by his neighbor's son, Richard Morrison, 13. But the actor claimed he took the action because the boy had been racing the tractor on the property and endangering the life of the O'Sheas' daughter, Mary Catherine, 3.

Report Hundreds of Russian Soldiers Desert to Escape Into Yugoslavia

VIENNA (U.P.)—Hundreds of Russian soldiers were reported today to deserted Red army garrisons in Hungary to escape into Yugoslavia.

Refugees from southern Hungary estimated at least 500 Red soldiers made the break for freedom in recent weeks. They said most of the Russian: had deserted the garrison at Baja, a Danube River town some 15 miles from the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier.

The refugees said the desertions became almost a mass flight around Jan. 15 but could give no reason.

Similar reports of wholesale desertions by Russian troops have proved almost impossible to confirm in the past because the deserters probably shed their uniforms for civilian clothes and, once across the border, vanished into the countryside.

A United Nations official in Geneva said more and more Hungarian refugees now are moving into Yugoslavia than into Austria because the increased Communist patrols on the Austrian frontier had made crossing difficult.

Reports leaking out of Hungary indicated that the puppet Janos "adar regime is still being harassed by active resistance."

Earlier reports reaching Vienna said four partisans shot and killed four secret police officers in a recent clash at Miskole, east of Eger.

Farm Forestry Office To Be Opened at Anna

ANNA, Ill. (U.P.)—A farm forestry office serving five counties will be opened here Feb. 1.

Paul Lamendola, district forester at Murphysboro, said Elmer F. Werhane will be in charge of the Anna office and will serve Union, Johnson, Alexander, Pulaski, and Jackson counties.

A similar office has been opened in Sparta.

Actress Sleeps Fearlessly

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Mamie Van Doren told Thursday about her bed in her new house. It is reported as being nearly wall-to-wall and having black sheets. "I'm not afraid of falling out," she said. "It's so big that I never think about it."

Ask $500,000 for Loss of Both Legs By 13-Year-Old Boy

BELLEVIEW, Ill. (U.P.)—A $500,000 damage suit for the loss of both legs has been filed by a 13-year-old Granite City youth whose father died Thursday of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

The suit filed in Circuit Court at Belleville on behalf of Nelson David Christian alleges the New York Central Railway and the Granite City Steel Co. were negligent in leaving a box of railroad torpedoes in an abandoned engine near Granite City.

The boy was injured last June in an explosion of a home-made rocket he put together with powder from the torpedoes.

His father, Willis C. (Red) Christian, 44, died Thursday of chest injuries four days after an auto accident near Centerville Station.

'Pete' Stamper Among Performers with Police Benefit Ozark Jubilee Show

Rapidly rising to a pinnacle of a top humorist in the nation is Wallace Logan Stamper, or just plain "Pete" Stamper, who will appear in Harrisburg Monday night.

Pete will be a part of the country-western show, The Ozark Jubilee, which will bring television personalities here for the police department's presentation at 8 p. m. Monday at the Harrisburg Township high school.

This benefit performance will include such performers as Chuck Bowers, the Foggy River Boys, Bill Wimberly and Pete Stamper. Stamper, who hails from Dawson Springs, Ky., got his start in the entertainment world with the Pine Valley Pals. After World War II he joined the Renfro Valley Gang. Then in 1954 he joined Red Foley at the Crossroads of Country Music in Springfield, Mo., where he currently holds a featured spot on the Foley Ozark Jubilee, televised over the ABC-TV network and keeps busy with personal appearances across the nation.

Ozark Jubilee tickets are on sale at the Harrisburg drug stores and at Parker's Midway.

The Buckeye-Wildcat game at Evanston, Ill., is one of only two weekend conference tilts. In the other, Minnesota entertains Michigan State Saturday night.

The Boilermakers play at Valparaiso and the Illini meet Notre Dame as part of a Chicago Stadium double-header.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Saline county basketball interest will be centered on Davenport gymnasium this evening and Saturday night, with the fourth annual Saline County basketball tournament in progress.

Carrier Mills, southern Illinois' only undefeated team, will rule a slight favorite to take the championship, but the tourney is looked on by many as a wide-open affair.

Carrier Mills has copied two of the three championships and Harrisburg owns one county title.

The meet started in 1954 and Carrier Mills defeated Eldorado 56-44 in the championship game.

In 1955 Harrisburg took the title with a 57-50 decision over Eldorado in the final game.

The 1956 first place trophy was won by Carrier Mills with a 64-55 victory over Harrisburg in the title tilt.

The tournament scoring record is held by Oliver Rollins, former Carrier Mills point-making machine. Last year in the first night of play Rollins scored 48 points to break the record of 37 he set in the 1955 meet.

A couple of Galatia aces were the tourney's first scoring champs. In 1954 Sam Duane and Bob Orto each had a 33-point game.

About 6:15 this evening team captains, under the supervision of their coaches, will reach into a box and draw numbers to determine first-round pairings. Teams drawing numbers 1 and 2 will play at seven o'clock and about 8:30 the other two schools will clash. First right losers play for the third place trophy in Saturday's opener, followed by Friday's winners for the championship.

Team coaches — John Dotson, Harrisburg; John Cherry, Galatia; Al Adams, Eldorado; A. L. "Kayo" Willis, Carrier Mills.

A basketball program from Tulane University, listing both the varsity and freshman rosters, show the two former Shawneetown stars — Alfred Gunzel and Jack Nolen — as members of the nine-man freshman squad.

Gunzel is listed as a 6-2, 197-pound forward. Nolen, the center, is listed at 6-4 and 200 pounds.

A penned note to The Register sports department stated the freshmen had played only informal games to date.

Gunzel is enrolled in Tulane's engineering school and Nolen's course of study is arts and sciences.

Only one other Illinois player, Dick O'Brien of East St. Louis in the school of Business Administration, is on the freshman squad.

The annual Basketball Coronation ceremony at Shawneetown high school will be held Tuesday, Feb. 5, date of the final home game of the season for Shawneetown. Mills Prairie will be the visiting team.

Junior High Wins 74-73 Thriller From Metropolis

The Harrisburg Junior high school basketball team, playing its best game of the season, won a thriller Thursday night at Metropolis 74-73. The game went into an overtime.

Harrisburg, losing Utter and Shelton via the foul route in the third quarter and Henshaw and Roberson in the fourth, saw a 60-46 three-quarter lead melt away and at the end of regulation time the score was knotted 68-all.

In the overtime the locals outscored Metropolis 6-5 to get the 74-73 verdict.

In an earlier game played here the Louie Beltz coached Harrisburg team won from the boys down south 51-49.

The preliminary game, a low-scoring affair, went to the Metropolis seventh grade team 21-19. Harrisburg trailed at the end of each period, 2-5, 7-9, 13-15.

Harrisburg plays at Marion next Thursday to close the regular schedule.

Floyd Patterson Honored as Fighter of Year

NEW YORK UP—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson established a precedent when he was honored as "Fighter of the Year" Thursday night at the annual dinner of the New York Boxing Writers Assn.

Only three years ago, the Brooklyn youth was named "Rookie of the Year" by the same group. It marked the first time in the history of the association that a fighter won both awards.

Patterson also received Ring Magazine's jewel-studded belt during the dinner.

Eddie Machen Favored Tonight Over Joey Maxim

MIAMI BEACH UP—Joey Maxim, 34 years old but "still strong as a bull," pits his age and 16 years of experience against Eddie Machen, one of the division's top-ranked young lions, in a 10-round television bout at the Miami Beach Auditorium tonight.

Machen, 24, from Redding, Calif. was a heavy favorite (4-1 or better) because of his strong punching arm which has netted him 14 knockouts in his 19 fights. He is undefeated in his pro career, which began in 1955 and is ranked third among the heavyweights.

But Maxim, former light-heavyweight champion, figures the 110 fights he has put under his belt since 1941 will make the difference against the California youngster. Maxim, from Cleveland, has 82 wins, but only 21 KO's.

"Sure, Machen's young, but so was Floyd Patterson when Joey beat him," said Joey's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns.

Maxim defeated Patterson, who recently won the heavyweight crown, in June of 1954, on a disputed decision.

Cass looked at the pretty young girl. Only 19, she seemed much older.

She was not even shocked that Marcy welcomed her mother's inability to talk. Cass had always blamed Aunt Cordy for her aloofness at the time of Marcy's marriage, her coldness to the girl when, evidently, she had badly needed her mother. A mother.

When the girls came in, Alex was reading the local paper aloud to his mother. Cass took out some knitting. Marcy rocked in her mother's "platform" and listened to Alex, committing now and then on a name in a news item.

Cordy, Cass saw at once, was uneasy about something. She kept looking at the door, and then at Marcy—finally she gestured to Alex, and he nodded.

"Had all she can take," he told Marcy, giving her the paper.

But that wasn't it. Aunt Cordy patted her head, looked at Marcy's head.

After some time, Cass hit on the right thing. "She wants to know what room—where you put your hat?"

"It's out in the hall," said Marcy. "I'm the sloppy type."

Aunt Cordy did not smile. She looked at Cass, then gestured to a corner of the ceiling.

"She wants you to have the big front bedroom," Cass interpreted.

Cordy nodded and smiled. Held up two fingers, and nodded again, pointing at Marcy.

Cass moistened her lips, glanced at Alex and Marcy—as if to warn them. "Marcy's husband didn't come with her, Aunt Cordy," she said in the slow, carefully enunciated way she was learning to use with the sick woman. "But I'll fix her up the way you want. Shall we go up now, Marcy?"

Marcy glanced at the clock. It was eight-thirty. "Yes," she decided. "I'll have to unpack."

Cass had already reached the stairs. "I've a guest in that room," she told the others, from the landing. "Alex said to give you your old room."

Alex went on up with the bags. He glanced down at Cass, but said nothing. Marcy picked up her topcoat, her hat, the third small bag. "Aunt Cordy needn't know a thing about it," she said softly as she joined Cass.

Her face troubled, Cass went along the upper hall to the small bedroom.

"What gave her the idea that Leo would be with me tonight?" asked Marcy. "I wrote that I was coming alone."

"Wouldn't it have been better if Powers had come with you? Or if he'd come here now, and talk out this situation?"

"With Aunt Cordy?"

"Of course not. She couldn't handle a personal situation of that sort now."

"She never could," said Marcy dourly.

"But I stand somewhat responsible for you, my dear. And a discussion with Powers might help get the lines cleared and the ship under way more quickly than your refusal to talk about the matter will ever do."

"The ship, as you call it," Marcy assured him, "has been cleared. There's a bit of paint needed, and some caulking—but once that's attended to..."

"All right," agreed Alex, "if you say so. But why you ever did a fool thing like marrying a complete stranger—"

"Alex!" Marcy came to stand directly before him. "Haven't you ever felt like running out? Enough to do it?"

It was not so much a matter of Aunt Cordy's health improving as it was a gradual adjustment to her physical condition.

She did not need nursing, in any skilled sense. A strong back and infinite patience were the essential qualifications of her attendant.

Thus, as nurses came and departed—for various reasons—Bucky came to take charge of the sick room and the sick woman. Bucky, as strong as an oak tree, and considerably darker, was everything Aunt Cordy needed, or wanted.

Marcy stretched her long, bare legs toward a nearby chair. "Bucky's a wonderful cook," she mused.

"Now, Marcy, how can she cook and care for Aunt Cordy, too?" Cass's face brightened. "Unless..."

"Don't look at me!" cried Marcy. "I wouldn't heard that lion any morning!"

Cass laughed and went inside. "Mrs. Ward?" The name was spoken softly.

Cass stopped, frowning. Just within the front door stood a woman.

an. Cass walked toward her, trying to see who it was, against the light. "Yes?"

"I rang—but no one answered."

The tall woman lifted the little reed basket which she was carrying. She was a strikingly beautiful young woman—tall and poised. Her quiet was arresting, and not at all forbidding. She had the most amazing blue eyes—and her skin...

"I'm Lenoire Black," said the deep, rich voice. "I brought these for Mrs. Ward." Again she lifted the basket. It contained eggs—brown and warm-looking upon a layer of cress.

"They're fresh," said the strange young woman. "I drove out into the country early this morning to get them. These first hot days, a person sick as she is doesn't find food appealing."

How could she know? thought Cass. How could she possibly know? That hot, humid morning Aunt Cordy had refused to eat. And eggs—fresh, brown country eggs—!

He Could Have Sold The Ponies, But He Wanted to Buy

Arvel Hamilton, a long-time Daily Register classified user who has had good results, was rightly provoked when he wanted to buy some ponies in a hurry and his ad got under "For Sale."

Instead of calls to sell him ponies, he had calls wanting to buy! Then the ad was moved over to help wanted, and that didn't help!

Anybody who wants to sell large ponies or small horses needn't look under for sale or help wanted for his telephone number today. It is right there under wanted, where it ought to be.
